

BILL MYERS NAMED BLIND FATHER OF YEAR

William D. Myers, 174 Burlington Avenue, is to be honored in New York City on June 6th., where in a ceremony at the National Foundation for the Blind headquarters, he is to be named Blind Father of the Year.

Myers, who was named by the National Fathers Day Committee, has a 2½% vision. Anything less than 10% is considered total blindness.

The 34 year old Wilmington man is a project engineer at Avco, where he is working on the evaluation of the telemetry system for the Minute Man Mark II Re-entry Vehicles. He has been employed in this project for the past two years, and last December was transferred to the Lawrence plant, where he is now employed.

Avco, he says, has been a very good employer. He was working for a firm in Texas, and had applied for work at Avco about three or four years ago. At that time Avco was not interested, but later they called him and asked 'Are you still interested?'

An Electrical Engineer, he graduated from the University of West Virginia, in Grafton, where he was born, and has studied at John Hopkins. He is now studying for a degree of Master in Business Administration at Northeastern University.

He still retains his contacts with Grafton, where he is serving as a consultant to the Grafton Development Council.

Myers, who is the father of three children, enjoys romping with them on the front lawn. He is the Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Methodist Church and is active in the Parents Association of the Boutwell School.

His physical handicap is hereditary, and is called Corneal Cystrophy. There are very few families with the affliction, one being in California, and two in West Germany. He has been blind since birth.

His work at Avco calls for an evaluation of the complex engineering specifications of the diagrams used for the Avco Minute-man project, as well as engineering analysis of the data transmitted to ground stations during test missile of the US Air Force vehicle, from Cape Canaveral. He is able to read and to use a slide rule, by holding the material to be read within four inches of his eyes.

Recognition of persons is mainly by voice. He has a memory for tonal inflections, which helps him to identify persons.

Mrs. Rose Marie Myers, his wife, is a native of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and she met her husband in Indianapolis, where she was attending school.

"LET THE PRESS KNOW"

The proposal of a Wilmington Selectman, a week ago in Selectmen's meeting, to let the "press" know of an incident where a landowner refused to give an easement, for the reconstruction of Ballardvale Street, had all the earmarks of totalitarian thinking.

A Mr. Somebody won't give an easement, there fore tell the neighbors who it is, and they will blame him because the street isn't fixed.

And we Selectmen won't get blamed!

Bob Evans, chicken farmer, is the Mr. Somebody, as the Town Crier reported last week.

Bob gave two easements, but refused to give the third.

It was to be 20 feet wide, across a large field which has been cleared of stones, and is as a consequence quite valuable.

Mr Evans was not shown any plan, nor was he given any details. He was just simply told that he could give an easement.

If the water, and there is plenty, should erode the soil - well that would just be tough luck.

If the water should make a big ditch, Bob could spend the money to fill in the ditch and do whatever engineering would be necessary.

And because Bob wouldn't agree, a certain Selectman felt that the "press" should be told. Shocking as that is, there is even more.

Mr. Evans has, as the Selectmen well know, sold an option on that land to a major indus-try.

Inat industry has rights, by virtue of that option, and it is to be doubted if Bob could give an easement, if he wanted to.

Most certainly the industry wouldn't want to locate in a field with an easement right down the middle.

So the Selectman not only put himself in a position of making Bob into a whipping boy, but also of thumbing his nose at a firm that has shown desires of locating in town.

MR BROOKS' $30,000

As the Selectmen discussed Lowell Street, last week, it brought to mind the story that John Brooks had had, and has now dropped, about saving the town $30,000 because, presumably, the proposed pedway behind the Woburn Street School was to be shortened.

That pedway was to be somewhere in the neighborhood of 1000 feet long, and about 20 feet wide, if the Town Crier's memory is correct.

The proposal for widening Lowell Street is for a distance of about 4000 feet, and a width of 12 feet, and, instead of being a pedway, is for heavy truck traffic.

But the cost is only to be about $12,000.

Somebody must have made a mistake - and no doubt it was the County Engineers!

... and it's fully insured with

HERO HAZARD

A score of times he circled Earth,
And suffered naught, save loss of girth.
We hope he stays in equal shape
As he goes through the ticker tape.

A REPLY TO READER GITTZUS

Reader Gittzus, who is a noted teacher of the blind, and who has written this week, saying that the Town Crier is misleading, because it does not emphasize the need of class rooms, instead of discussing "true facts" of an uninformed person who has quite a bit to say, is undoubtedly familiar with the adage of James Abram Garfield.

In 1871, visiting Williams College, where Mark Hopkins was the president, he said: "Give me a log hut, with only a simple bench, Mark Hopkins on one end and I on the other, and you may have all the buildings, apparatus and libraries without end".

In other words the main idea in education is to have an adequate teacher. We believe Mr. Gittzus will agree.

The in-corner and under-the-table fight in Wilmington, on round schools versus conventional schools, hasn't had much to say about the teachers, who are admittedly important.

But Wilmington, a growing town, finds itself in a position where it can afford good but not too costly schools, if it is to have good teachers, or costly schools and poor teachers.

The Town Crier prefers the first alternative and it is for that reason that it is for economy elsewhere.

The Glen Road school plans exposed by the Town Crier in 1957 proposed to spend over $800,000 of the town's money, for one school.

The round school, built by the Permanent Building Committee, as a result of the exposure cost $406,000, and houses just as many children warmly and adequately, in buildings that are superior in many ways.

The $400,000 that was saved is available for other purposes - building a new Town Hall, or a Library, or another school, or raising the salaries of good teachers.

The town could have become all excited, but it didn't. It approached the problem in a calm deliberate manner, and appointed a Permanent Building Committee, to think out the answers.

That Permanent Building Committee came up not only with an economical school for primary grades, but a schedule of building, which would make sure that there were no double sessions.

Eight schools were to be built in 10 years, the schedule being based on the rate of growth of the town.

TOWN NOTES

Not with Emily

Emily Dickinson once wrote of how she got up at the crack of dawn, to pick flowers.

Our crack of dawn activity, this week, was to pick out first mushrooms of the season. Now if we can only get them cooked - - -

New Nuts

Mrs Bill Blakeslee of Hathaway Road looked out her window, one dark night last weekend, while her husband wasn't home, and spotted two forms, crouched near her Chevelle.

She let out a feminine yell, and the two men disappeared, dashing into the nearby woods.

Then she called the cops.

They had been trying to take a wheel off her car. They had brought their own jack, which they left behind them, so it might seem that Mrs Blakeslee is in one jack.

The wheel, of course, was saved, but the cops couldn't find the nuts that hold the wheel onto the car, so Mel Southmayd was called - and he had some.

The lady is driving her car again, but with some new nuts.

Civil War Book

The best book we have read in years, on the Civil War, in the days before Gettysburg, is now in the Wilmington Public Library, and is entitled 'An End to Bugling'. It is not what you think it is.

Whoops

The Town Crier is not without its bloopers, so we always take an inordinate delight in discovering bloopers by other people. We caught the Christian Science Monitor once having Charles the First of England living some forty years after his head was chopped off, and of course we catch other papers too.

This week's blooper is closer to home. The Memorial Day programs, published for the parade, etc. list a 'Memorial Day Mass' at the First Baptist Church!

Fortunately, at least in one respect, the town didn't grow quite as fast as was expected, and the town thus "saved" a year, in school construction.

Now, suddenly, it finds itself in a position where it must have 14 rooms, in 16 months time. Meanwhile the politicians have been having a hay-day, and have discharged a couple of fine men, merely because they want economy in school construction.

Wilmington these days, doesn't sound like Boston - it sounds almost like Washington D.C., where Economy is almost a Capital Crime.

But to return to the business of 14 rooms. The authority for this is Harold Shea, Superintendent of Schools. Mr. Shea has always exhibited a very uncommon common sense.

He has also said "I would be a fool to argue that the round schools are not as good as any other, for educational purposes."

The road to bankruptcy, for any government, be it a municipality or larger, is lined with foolish and extravagant expenditures, and extravagance in school building can be just as costly as any other.

CONCERNING ARCHITECTS

An additional factor that might be discussed in the coming Town Meeting could be the retention of the architect.

On January 25, 1963, in a signed article by political columnist David Farrell, in the Boston Herald, Farrell discussed the role of politics in architectural work undertaken by the state government.

A name prominently mentioned in the article was that of the architect now retained by the Permanent Building Committee.

ZONING BY-LAW ARGUMENTS IN LAND COURT

The long standing case of Residential vs Industrial Zoning, in East Wilmington, adjacent to Route 93, of land belonging to Minot Anderson of Lowell Street was heard last Wednesday, in the Massachusetts Land Court, in Boston.

Anderson, who is the owner of several acres of swampy land, which is zoned for residential purposes, seeks to have it re-zoned for industrial purposes, on the plea that it would cost too much to prepare it for residences, and constitute a hardship.

He has sought to have the town rezone the land in town meeting, and he has appeared before both the Planning Board and Board of Appeals, but lost every decision to date.

Attorney Richard Shepard represented Anderson before the Land Court, Justice Joseph Cotton presiding, and Attorney Robert Morse, the associate of Town Counsel Philip Buzzell, represented the town.

Testimony was given by Town Assessor Stanley Webber, Town Engineer Alphonse Savignac, Mr. Anderson, and Donald Martinez, a Sanitary Specialist of Dana Perkins & Son, Engineers of Reading.

Mr. Savignac told the court that the land was swampy, and that there was a lot of swampy land in Wilmington. Mr. Anderson testified that the firm of Dominic Zanni and Son, of Reading, had estimated a cost of $102,000 in fill, before the land would be suitable for residential purposes, and Mr. Martinez said that the land was possibly fit for industrial purposes. The decision was reserved, pending the pleadings of the attorneys.

bury's first commercial bank, bringing to the people and industry of this fast growing area the facilities that have helped generate the financial life-blood of Middlesex County.

The 'Open House' festivities start with Miss Ethel Jackson, direct descendant of the town's first settlers and former owner of the property on which the bank building stands, joining with town and bank officials in ribbon cutting ceremonies.

Refreshments will be served from 4:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m., and graciously consenting to serve as patronesses of the Open House is a group of Tewksbury ladies including: Mrs. Dorothy P. Patten, Miss Ethel M. Phillips, Mrs. Priscilla L. Matley, Mrs. Helen Eaton, Mrs. Alice B. Carter, Mrs. Janet Chandler, Miss Catherine M. O'Neil, Mrs. Lorraine M. Whitten and Mrs. Claire Gay.

The new building includes attractive and modern banking rooms and an experienced staff of Tewksbury residents will be at the service of the bank's patrons.

Among the bank services offered will be savings accounts, regular and special checking accounts, mortgages and installment loans, automobile and commercial loans, traveler and register checks and a much needed and long desired night depository for businesses wishing to make deposits after hours.

Ample free parking space is available at the rear of the bank.

The President of the Middlesex County National Bank, Oliver T. Bergstrom, told this reporter: 'We are proud of our new office because it affords us an opportunity to demonstrate that relying on tradition, habits or routines is not enough. The economic growth of the Tewksbury area demands we think of progress to come in more personal terms of plans to be fulfilled, plans of families for homes, for cars, for travel and education; plans of business for growth and development and the plans of Tewksbury for sound capital needs. Our progress will be measured by the number of worth while projects in which we can be of help to our customers'.

The regular schedule of banking hours will be from 8:30 am to 4:00 pm on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday; Wednesday from 8:30 am to 12:00 Noon. Extra banking hours will be from 6:00 pm to 8:00 pm on Thursday evening for the convenience of its customers.

STUDENT RECOGNITION DAY

Student Recognition Day, at the Rotary Club, yesterday noontime, was a big event in the lives of the 11 High School seniors who were honored at the luncheon. High School seniors Marshall Bishop, Wilma Nelson, Kathryn Butler, Roy Wahl, Patricia Fiske, Allen Park, Judith Halpin, Mary Margaret Sullivan, John Vovitz, Marjorie Haines and Marilyn Mann were escorted to the club meeting by School Superintendent Harold Shea, High School Principal Bernard McMahon, and teacher John Hamilton, Vincent Gallucci and Roger Breakey.

The Invocation was by the Rev. Terry Clay Thomason of the Methodist Church, and the Benediction by Father Edmund Croke of St. Thomas Church. Introduction of guests was by Jack Fitzgerald of the Wilmington Builders Supply Company.

District Governor Rufus (Bill) Stevens, of Coombs Furniture, presented the awards.

1860 FOURTEEN NEW SCHOOL ROOMS NEEDED IN 1964

The Wilmington School Department will need a minimum of 14 new school rooms in 1964, according to Superintendent of Schools Harold Shea. This is the absolute minimum, and the number may be 15.

At the present time the School Department has a total of four vacant rooms, one in the Swain School, and 3 in the North School this figure not including the Music, Homemaking, Industrial Art Rooms, or the Library of the North School, nor the Library of the Wildwood School, which as on occasion been used as a classroom.

The 'pupil projection' of the School Department shows that four additional class rooms will be needed in September of 1963, and Shea anticipates that 15 more will be needed in September of 1964 at the present rate of growth.

In September of 1965 Shea feels that only three or four rooms will be needed, which he will probably be able to find within the school system, if the Woburn Street school is built for 15 rooms.

Speaking of the controversy over the Woburn Street School Shea said 'We cannot get by with only 12 rooms, we need a minimum of 14'.

OVER 400 APPLICATIONS TO TEACH IN WILMINGTON SCHOOLS

The Wilmington School Department has, at the present time over 400 applications from teachers who would like to teach in the Wilmington schools. Some of the applications are as far away as from Oregon.

School Superintendent Harold Shea states that the number of applications has doubled, in three years. He attributes this to the vigorous recruitment efforts on the part of his staff. Teams of Wilmington principals, supervisors and department heads have been visiting the various colleges and teacher employment agencies, searching for suitable candidates. All teachers are now being interviewed by their Department Heads, before being employed by the school department.

CAGY SAM ALMOST RAN OUT OF FINGERS

Cagy Sam Ethier, who for many years piloted the Gildart Townies through the intricacies of the Wilmington Softball League, is now running a team down in Woburn, to the sad loss of Wilmington fans.

He isn't seen too much, these days, on Wilmington fields. But Cagy was in Wilmington a week ago last night, and he volunteered his services to the American Legion team, as third base coach - thereby almost causing a revolution, and in the end leaving Sam with only one finger on which to count.

Cagy knows all the tricks of the baseball trade - how to fool the pitcher by misdirections, and how to make that distracting move which will cause the first baseman to take his eye off the ball at a crucial moment.

He has two methods of counting scores - one for his own team, and the other for the opponents.

For his own team Cagy counts on his fingers. Obviously it would be impossible to also count the other team on his fingers too, for there would be danger of getting mixed up, so Cagy has the Cagy Sam Scoring Sticks, which he uses to keep the count on the opponents.

Every time one of the opposing players crosses the plate Cagy breaks one of his sticks.

At the end of the game he picks up the pieces and counts them, and then divides by two. Voila! It is so simple - the score!

When Sam appeared on the Town Park field a week ago and offered to coach third base for the American Legion team - well, no one knew what would happen.

It just so happens that, in nine years of league play the American Legion team has never defeated the Merri-Macs. It is a most humiliating situation for the Legion, and especially for Coach Jack Pellerin.

Last year there was an Almost. The Legion, in the seventh inning led by 11 runs - but then the Merri-Macs, with Larry Cushing piloting, scored 12 runs in the last of the 7th and kept their record intact!

So everyone conceded, even before the game began, that the Merri-Macs were going to win.

Vinny Coyne, the third baseman for the Merri-Macs, offered to bet $100 against anybody's $10 that the Merri-Macs would win - and no one took up the offer.

Oble O'Brien was pitching for the Merri-Macs. Oble has a quick nervous toss, one that baffles the opposing players.

The pitcher for the Legion was Vincent Gallucci, High School Guidance Director, is an enthusiast about President Kennedy's 50 Mile Hikes.

Vince is doing his part. He hikes 1/5th of a mile every day.

Jack Knowlton, who perhaps isn't too well known to Wilmington fans for he has lived in town just about a year, in the Veterans Housing Project. He is a Staff Sergeant in the Air Force.

Knowlton is pretty good. He put three right across the plate for Boo Shepherd - Sgt. Shepherd of the local Gendarmes, and Boo was tricked each time into just looking at the ball.

When Umpire Leo Woods called Boo out he got a look that he figured was worth three traffic tickets.

Oble started off strong, and in the third inning the score was 1 to 1 with, admittedly, the only run made by the Merri-Macs being the result of two errors.

In the 4th Bob Pellerin of the Legion singled. Then Billie Grace bunted and reached first. Phil Nelson, who has taken quite a ragging from Vinny because he plays for the lowly Legionairs, reached first on a single.

The bases were loaded, and Cagy was coaching at third. Anything could happen.

Lionell (Burr) Baldwin strode up to the plate. Oble put one across and Burr connected - for a three bagger.

Burr rounded second, and Cagy waved him on as Phil headed for home.

The ball was thrown to third. 'Slide' yelled Cagy.

Burr slid. He made it.

Cagy ticked off the fourth run on his fingers, and beamed with satisfaction.

The most distressed man on the field was Larry Cushing - who admits to 51 years, 47 of them in baseball.

He pulled Oble off the mound, and sent in Joe Gilligan. 'He used to last five innings' Larry muttered.

But it was only the beginning, for before the fifth was over Cagy had used up all ten fingers, when Phil made another hit. This was a real problem. What would Cagy do if Phil were to cross the plate?

Then Cagy thought of his toes and the problem was solved. The ten runs were transferred to the inside of Sam's shoes, and, fingers clean and fresh, he began counting off the additional runs.

Along in the seventh inning there was almost another crisis. The American Legion had 19 runs. If somebody were to get another Cagy would be out of fingers, and his toes were already loaded.

Sam was really worried - but he shouldn't have been, for that 19th run was the last, and Sam didn't have to face up to the problem.

He looked down at the Cagy Sam Scoring Sticks. There were only 2 pieces there. Two divided by two equals one. The score was 19 to 1. 19 to 1. That was a fine score! Sam went home happy as a meadow lark.

And Vinny Coyne will never again offer to bet $100 that the Merri-Macs will beat the American Legion.

LETTERS

Reading, Mass.

Dear Larz:

A few months ago you had a public discussion with Harold Melzar over the use of the Maine word 'smidgeon', of which you had never heard.

Did you happen to watch the Pre-Flight Briefing, on TV, about a week ago, in which Col. Powers was explaining the astronaut program and purpose? It was just before Cooper took off.

The point is that Colonel Powers used the word 'smidgeon', and now a former State of Maine word has received national usage.

Leslie D. Stark

May 20, 1963
47 Glen Road

Dear Editor:

Recent articles, editorials and letters in your paper concerning the problems of school buildings have been very misleading. A tremendous amount of comparing 'true facts' has been written about round schools and conventional shaped schools, when in reality the buildings being discussed are incomparable because there is practically nothing similar about them. The materials used, the size of the educational areas, the number of class rooms, etc. are different in each building.

I am not writing because I represent some local group but because of my great concern for the education of all youngsters in our country and particularly in Wilmington. It seems that our local 'writers' are ignoring these two points; (1) we need fifteen rooms for children September 1964 (2) if we do not have these classrooms some children will be on double sessions. To me its as clear as that.

Much of the discussion has touched on other schools, therefore I would like to make some points that should be more carefully evaluated in reference to round schools. Remember two factors should be kept in mind; the student and future educational trends. I wonder where your facts were obtained that indicate teaching facilities 'are just as good' in a 'pie shaped' classroom as in a rectangular classroom. Having taught in a 'pie shaped' classroom I found all of the area could not be rectangular classroom. Having taught in a 'pie shaped' classroom I found all of the area could not be used efficiently. Isn't this a waste of money? This type of classroom is also very inflexible.

It is easy to believe that the Glen Road School and the Boutwell Street school have perhaps 12% corridor space; they do seem to be extremely narrow. I seriously question that it would be easier to give directions to a large number of children under excitement in a circular corridor than in a straight one if a disaster occurred.

Of course should we not consider the effect on student and teacher a hard wooden sounding board ceiling may have? It is also difficult to measure in dollars and cents the effect of light distribution because of the shape of the classroom and the color of the ceiling.

We need buildings that are for the teaching of children of the future and I do not mean glass architects dreams. The day is gone when a teacher merely needs to know assign reading assignments. Like it or not for a student to keep up with the amount of information, knowledge, etc. he needs to get on in the world we must have flexible educational programs, facilities, and methods. We will not be able to keep up with the rest of the country if our schools are built for teaching methods of fifty years ago.

These are my thoughts but, of course, I am only a mere teacher. Sincerely,
Leo Gittzus
